

Focused on our Community

Hi Jackson,

If you had to read a book in Mandarin right now, you'd probably get pretty frustrated pretty quickly. Yet we ask our young people to choose an educator, a career, or purchase homes and cars with similar expertise in the financial arena as you may have in reading Mandarin... this spells disaster in the long term.

There are several ways anyone can give back. At Elevated, we promise a $10 donation to an important cause for anyone who grabs a solution (quote) from us, buy or not.

While Money addresses immediate need, education delivers long term results. In Semester 1, we're partnering with Secure Futures to help our next generation of spenders spend intentionally:

Please leverage the link above or email back if you'd like to be involved with Secure Futures or any other giving/time partnership we're a part of. I promise it's as rewarding for the volunteer as it is the students.

Driven to serve,

Jackson Bubolz
