

Focused on OUR Community

Happy September Jackson!

September is usually when our minds turn to "Back to School", yet for some kids, this will be the first time they've seen a book in 3 months! Sounds crazy right?

The reason "books at home" is so important is the number of books a child has in their home is directly correlative to how early they read. For many kids, literacy is the first step to improving their situation. Elevated sees this as an opportunity to help.

At one time you received an "Insurance Solution" from Elevated. Thus, you are part of Elevating our Community.

In September, Elevated Insurance is donating 347 children's book to Next Door with intentions to help kids take control of their future and "Get where they're going" :

Thank your the opportunity to serve you, and our community.

Cheers!
