

Serving our Community's Top Trusted Advisors

Jackson,

Do you know a professional we don't have very high expectations for? The person who changes our oil.

Get in, get out, remember to put the cap back on... easy.

Why is it that most Trusted Advisors who need to rely on other professionals to close deals don't take much, if any pride in the "vendors" they refer their clients too?

After having over 90+ meetings with Trusted Advisors, I've realized most have not had an exemplary experience with vendors... they usually just hope they don't screw it up.

As Bob Dylan said, "These times are a changin".... are you keeping up?
